Skipping Into Content Even without soul-stomping vocalization of the emotional gut-busting Queen Beyoncé, the first trailer for Everything, Everything will feel like an emotional roller coaster ride. The film (and a matching trailer) royally streamed from young adult novel Nicola Yoon about an 18-year-old quarantined at her home bound to carry some tears. Meanwhile, the song in a trailer entitled Runnin' (Lose It All) — which is a collaboration from English producers Naughty Boy with Mother Goddess (Bey) and Arrow Benjamin — did it most dare add emotional value. Songs in Everything, All the trailers will make you feel like you have to leave your office job now and go to the beach because life is so short. Honestly this trailer may be considered NSFW for that reason because the vibe is definitely helped by a fast-paced background song. The film follows Maddy (Hunger Games' Amandla Stenberg), a teenager who spent her childhood in her home due to mysterious immunodeficiency. The only companion for his childhood included his mother, a doctor who was too protective, and his nurse. Then, the new boy next to the door comes knocking on the door, bundt cake in hand, and it likes at first glance. In one Romeo and Juliet-esque twist, Maddy's mother is not a fan of her daughter's neighboring boy, Ollie. But despite Mama's reservation, the soaked teenager of love could Runnin', runnin', runnin', runnin' so that Maddy could experience it as she put it, everything, or at least, a perfect day before her (probably) died. The power ballad from Naughty Boy depicts a subject that ignores their personal hangups and pursues each other despite it all. These four lonely wall lyrics have changed the way I feel and Ain't runnin' from myself is no longer nearly as much as they are made specifically for this film. But, in fact they didn't, this song actually came out in September 2015. Even the music video, featuring couples running each other while underwater feels similar to the heavy ocean vibe of Everything, Everything trailers. It's like this song doesn't reach full potential until now. Combo songs and trailers do a great job of reminding us how short life is, yet how long it feels without adventure, or love. They also both serve as a reminder that being true to themselves is the only way to. There are plenty of feelings within a two-minute period brought to us all by this trailer/trailer song combo. Get ready for all your feelings to reach the final resting place when Everything is, Everything premieres May 19! If this trailer brings tears to your eyes, chances are you'll cry a bucket of water salty during the film. Almost like ... Ocean? It's appropriate, doesn't it? From Fifth Harmony to One Direction, both boy and girl bands didn't really supar. That's unless you're talking about Little Mix. The British girl group won the UK X-Factor in 2011 and was the first girl group to ever do so in the British Presentation. They've made bangers ever since, but not as big in America anymore. To really convince why Little Mix should be a hit, here are seven videos to show. It's also a good introduction to them if you've never heard of their music before. It's like a bop, with some stages for songs. It has rhythmic verses, staccato and then more fluid, sensual chorus. It's a great song to work out, dance, or a great hype song. As one of the top comments said, Every time I hear Little Mix I become the queen of strange confidence, then the song is over and I come back to being a bit potato! 2. Black Magic One of Little Mix's first hits, and song in general, Black Magic tells a fantastical story of wanting to use a love position on a man to get them finally seeing you. Although of course, just fantasy, the music videos are so worth it. All four members play these sort of nerdy or awkward girls who have massive ruin on this guy. They grab magical books and start scotching mean girls and helping other less popular children in their school. It's fun and really marks their massive start. 3. Love Me Like You A retro-inspired song, Love Me Like You will remind you of the 1950s sockhop jam. It's slower and perfectly highlights their voices. It also has a great '50s concept getting longer and pining for a guy who seems to be one of a kind. However, the 2015 video shows that maybe some people are too good to be good at. No matter how you take its meaning, it's a fun song that will put you in a happy and bright mood. 4. Think About Us ft. Ty Dolla Sign Think About Us is basically about when you're so someone that when you think about them (which much) you can't help but wonder or hope they do the same. Whether at the beginning of a relationship or near the end, it's definitely a concern or thought someone might have. The song itself is also a really good vibe. A beat can be to dance or just a nice pulse of background when you need it. 5. Women Like Me ft. Nicki Minaj Little Mix always has a foundation or sometimes blatant message empowerment. Like Me, one of their new songs, basically says that they're strong, outspoken, and sometimes don't really behave like a proper woman ought to be. But they love a man and wonder, can they handle them? This also features Nicki Minaj and is a good song to make you feel strong. 6. Reggaeton Lento CNCO duet Originally, Reggaeton Lento is really in Spanish since it was a single by The Latin American boy group CNCO. CNCO. Mix jumping on the remix, and it's a good song. It's definitely a different style of music that they usually do, however they perform it perfectly. There is still a part in Spanish, and it's perfect for dancing. 7. Spelling To My Ex Okay, time to overcome it with one of Little Mix's best and biggest songs. It's the ultimate split song. It doesn't trust the former, every se, but rather it elevates the girls. They thank them for making them the ones they are now, teaching them a lesson, and even being beyond their lives now. Honestly, it was like Thank you U, Next, but obviously the year before. It is also well known about Zayn Malik, allegedly, who broke up with Little Mix member Perrie Edwards via text message. It's the perfect song to scream the lyrics out, even if you don't have a container.
